SATURDAY EVENING, JULY 28.

A ROMANTIC STORY. -The New York evening Express of Wednesday says :- "A singular story is given to the public through the medi-um of the police, which is in itself a strange commentary on the vicissitudes of life. A few years ago a young German, about twenty years of age, came to this country on a pleasure ex-cursion. He was the son of exceedingly wealthy parents, and heir to a title well known in his own land, and which had been honorably borne by his ancestors for many years. Arriving in New York the young man stopped at the St. Nicholas Hotel, where he boarded for several months. He had plenty of money, dressed well and made many friends among the young men of New York. He was careful, however, to keep his title in the back ground, and but two or three persons to whom he brought letters of introduction, knew him as a person of rank. It was soon observed that the young man was quite intemperate in his habits. It finally became a matter of serious concern to his friends, and they endeavored to check his intemperate course. Their efforts were useless, and he continued to get intoxicated daily. He was finally forced to change his residence, and found board in a second-rate boarding house. -Money ceased to come to him and he began to feel the want of it. His jewelry soon passed into the hands of the pawnbroker, and his apparel became threadbare. He was unable to pay his board, and was turned into the street, From one boarding-house to another he sought shelter, but was not allowed to remain long beneath any respectable roof. His craving for liquor possessed him still, and whatever he could pawn or sell for either money or liquor was so disposed of. At length to such a fearful state of degradation did this appetite bring this titled youth that he became an inmate of a low, filthy negro dance-house, and the associate of thieves and prostitutes of the vilest description. In this horrible place, ragged, fithy, diseased and drunk, the young man existed for several weeks, the degraded companion of an equally degraded woman. One cold night in winter, after having drank himself to a beastly state of intoxication, he was kicked out of even this den of thieves, because he had neither money nor what was worth money, into the street .-On the following morning a policeman found him lying on the sidewalk near the place, dead."

ASSETS, over $16,000,000.

To meet the choice of such present or future members as may prefer to have the amout insured paid in instalments to their widows or heirs, rather than in one sum, this Company is prepared to insert in its policies a clause agree-ing that in lieu of the payment of the policy and profits in one sum, an equitable amount, to be determined by the Company, may be paid annually or semi-annually for any specified number of years, (say from five to twenty-five

EXAMPLE.—Suppose a policy of $10,000, with additions amounting to $5,000 more, should become payable by reason of the death of the person insured, the Company, in lieu of the payment of $15,000 in one sum, would be able to give (assuming interest as realized in the past) an annuity for ten years of over $2,000 per annum, or for twenty years an annuity of over $1,300 per annum.

This form of annuity will remove the anxiety which may exist in the minds of some policy holders lest the future provision they have made for their families should be ineffectual or transi-tory in its duration, either through unsafe investments, unwise expenditure, or other uncertainties incidental to contingent trusts. It is not only free from the ordinary dangers of investment, but its punctual and full payment is secured by the large and solid cash resources and good faith of this institution, which thus, to a certain extent, becomes the guardian or trustee of the survivors. Hence the provision may be considered, humanly speaking, beyond any adverse contingency.

All such deferred payments or annuities will share equitably in the profits or dividends of the Company. This Company also issues Survivorship An nuities, which provide for survivors during the whole period of life, and Deferred Annuities, by which individuals may provide for themselves in advanced age.

F. S. WINSTON President. The undersigned begs to call the attention of those who desire to make provision for their families, to the advantages offered by the above

MAGNIFICENT INSTITUTION. There is no way in which a small sum of money can be so profitably and securely invested, for such a purpose, as in a policy on your life. FORTY-FIVE CENTS a week will insure $1,000 on the life of a man aged 30, and the payment of a single premium secures (and at once) a very much larger sum than the investment of the same amount could possibly do in the ordinary operations of trade. The following descriptions of Policies are issued by this Company, the premiums on which may be paid yearly, half-yearly, or quarterly, at the option of the party assured:

1st. Life Policies, for the whole term of life, payable, together with the dividend additions, after the death of the party assured, to the person artitled to receive the same son entitled to receive the same.

2d. ENDOWMENT ASSURANCE POLICIES .-These are issued to persons desirous of making provision for advanced life, or any other purpose. and are payable together with accrued dividends on same, to the assured party, on attaining a certain age, say 40, 45, 50, 55, 60 or 65, or in case of his death before arriving at that age, to his heirs

3d. ENDOWMENT POLICIES FOR CHILDREN payable when a child attains the age of 18, 21 or 25, or upward, either with or without the return of the total premium paid, in case the party assured does not attain the specified age.

4th. SURVIVORSHIP ANNUITY POLICIES, by which an insurer may secure to a surviving nomince, whether wife, parent, child, or friend, the enjoyment of a certain definite and permanent income for life, free alike from the dangers and expenses of investing money and from dependence upon persons who may perhaps prove injudicious or adversely interested.

All policies issued by this Company par-icipate in the surplus, the whole of which will be ANNUALLY DIVIDED, in the most equitable manner, among the Policy-holders.
